Tips for Mastering Here Comes the Sun on Mandolin

Focus on Timing and Dynamics

One of the trickiest parts of playing “Here Comes the Sun” is capturing the subtle timing shifts and dynamic changes that give the song its life. The original recording features nuanced rhythms that aren’t always perfectly on the beat, so it’s important to listen closely and try to replicate that flow.

When practicing the tab, start slowly and emphasize the natural rise and fall of the melody. Use a metronome to keep your timing consistent, but don’t be afraid to add a bit of personal flair once you’re comfortable.

Practice Hammer-ons and Pull-offs

Many parts of the mandolin tab rely heavily on hammer-ons and pull-offs to create the song’s smooth, legato feel. These techniques allow notes to flow seamlessly without constant picking, which is crucial for maintaining the song’s gentle vibe.

If you’re new to these techniques, dedicate time to exercises that build finger strength and control. Practicing slow hammer-ons and pull-offs on each string will make the tab sections easier and more musical.

Use Alternate Tunings for Authenticity

While the standard G-D-A-E tuning is the most common for mandolins, some players experiment with alternate tunings to more closely match the guitar voicings in the original song. Though not necessary, it can be a fun way to explore different tonal possibilities and add richness to your playing.

If you decide to experiment, make sure to adjust your tab accordingly and tune carefully to avoid any strain on your instrument.
